Living at Luther Park Community allows residents to move from independent living to assisted living and long-term nursing care as their needs change. Couples needing different levels of care can each live in the most appropriate setting while enjoying the benefits of living in a single community.

Luther Park Community grew out of an affiliation with the Lutheran church more than 100 years ago and Christian compassion remains an integral part of who we are. Our employees demonstrate compassion, respect, Christian kindness and concern for others. We respect the individual religion and/or spirituality of each resident. Religious activities offered by Luther Park Community are announced in the monthly activities calendar and are open to all residents.

Levels of Care

Selecting the right level of care need not be confusing. At the Gardens, we assist prospective residents in making a decision by getting to know their lifestyle, goals and understand their physical and cognitive health. Three levels of care are offered:

Independent Plus is ideal for individuals who want to live independently, want flexibility and do not need full assisted living. Flexibility includes choices for housekeeping, laundry and meals, the ability to remain active in the community and the peace of mind in know that help is available when needed.

Assisted living is ideal for older adults who require some daily assistance for such things as medication management, personal care, housekeeping, and transportation to medical appointments. Assisted living at The Gardens provides residents with independence and autonomy with the added security of assistance as needed. Each resident has an individualized service plan that is customized to their unique needs and wishes. Family members and friends gain the peace of mind that their loved one is safe and able to receive the services they need.

Assisted living with memory care. When memory loss or cognitive decline occurs, residents benefit from memory care services on the third floor of The Gardens. Assisted living with memory care is designed to provide a safe, structured environment for residents with dementia. Routines are predictable to lower stress for memory care residents. Activities are tailored to the needs of residents with dementia.
